The Mission of Hope House is to improve the quality of life of HIV-affected individuals and their families by providing high quality early childhood education and social services.
My first experience with Hope House was in 1996, shortly after it opened. My daughter-in-law, Kandy Goughnour, was the first social worker. At that time, the major part of her job was driving HIV mothers to doctor appointments, riding the bus to pick up children in the mornings, and helping with child care. Several years later, it was evident that the children of Hope House needed more than just basic child care.

As a college professor in education, I had the privilege of developing the first comprehensive preschool curriculum. I recall how positive the day care employees were to incorporate the learning activities into their daily routine, yet also unsure of their own ability to succeed. They all worked so hard, observing other preschool facilities and attending workshops and feedback sessions at Hope House. And they did succeed! The focus of Hope House was beginning to change.

The present Hope House is very different from the beginning one. One house has increased to three. Children services grew into a center where intellectual needs were met with a curriculum certified by the National Association for the Education of Young Children. Advances in HIV/AIDS research resulted in better health care for HIV families. It is now a multi-faceted center with social workers incorporating such things as play therapy counseling, support groups, and mentoring.

But some things have not changed. Hope House still offers, love, support, dedication, and stability to all the families who participate. As president of the Board of Directors of Hope House, I am proud to be involved in such an important and valuable organization.

Ellie Goughnour, Ed.D.
President

Dear friends,

Everything old is new again. Hope House just finished 21 years of service to children affected by HIV and poverty. When we opened our doors in 1995, HIV was a part of our culture for more than 10 years, and we were desperately fighting the disease and discrimination against those with the disease.

In 2016, we are still fighting the disease and discrimination, but now we have new tools. We have better medicines to help our children live with the disease, but the disease is still a secret for some of our clients who have not told a family member or a friend.

Fortunately, our children have always had friends like you. Some of you have been with us for many of our 21 years. Others more recently found ways to support our children and families. Regardless, we filled a grocery bag for a family before they left our preschool because there was no food in the house. Their teacher brought food from her home the next day to make sure they had enough. Our teachers still give HIV medicine on a regular basis. Our children still live in poverty, but now they receive education from a NAEYC accredited center that will help them move out of poverty. And many of our graduates have moved out of poverty.

Thank you for helping the old ways become better ways. All of us working together have helped children graduate from high school and college when no one before them in their families graduated high school. Our children and adults who are HIV positive live healthier lives now with a hope for a future. It all happens because there have always been people who care about others. This is not new.

With hope in our hearts,

Elizabeth Montegut Dupont, Ed.D.
Executive Director
Hope House came into Kendra’s life during a very difficult time. She was battling addiction and within a few months found out she was pregnant and that her mother, her closest support, was terminally ill with Stage 4 cancer. Without her mother in her life, Kendra felt like she would have no one. She was overwhelmed with the thought of losing her mother, her closest friend, at any time while preparing to become a mother herself.

The Social Workers at Hope House were there for her every step of the way. She says they knew her during her addiction, held her hand through domestic violence and helped prepare her for her mother’s passing. She smiles as she explains that they are also there to help her celebrate the triumphs. They helped her celebrate her pregnancy and ensured she had maternity clothes. They also attended her Hope Works graduation, a very proud moment for her which was made even more special with the presence of the Hope House staff. She describes the Social Workers as “the nicest people in the world” who “make you want to come back.”

Kendra’s mother passed in April and while she is still missing her each day, Kendra continues to look forward to the future. She is living a sober life, continuing to attend support groups and preparing for the birth of her first child.
Sara, born with HIV, grew up at St. Jude. She realized around the age of 9 that people treated her different and saw firsthand how hurtful others can be when she confided in a friend about her status. The friend ended up spreading rumors about Sara through campus, making Sara’s first year in college a miserable experience. Sara spoke to her Social Worker at St. Jude who had helped her through many challenging situations. The Social Worker said, “Either you can control your life or you can let others control your life.” Sara says that is when she realized that she could turn the situation into something positive. She says she decided then and there to “tell people my story my way.” Sara started doing pageants and using HIV/AIDS as her platform as a way to advocate for her community and herself.

In 2015 Sara faced new challenges when her husband lost his job and they faced the possibility of being evicted from their home. Sara was nearing the end of her pregnancy with her third child and concerned about where her family would live when a friend told her about Hope House. Sara says that with Hope House’s support she “never lost hope.” She soon began attending the women’s support group each week and found a safe home for her family. Before finding housing through Hope House, Sara’s family was staying in a rough neighborhood and struggling to feel safe. She says, “Now I have a backyard where my children can play and I wouldn’t have been able to do that without Hope House.” Sara’s two sons were able to enroll in Hope House’s childcare program and are thriving. Sara is doing her next pageant in November and looking forward to telling her story, her way.
Tonya became HIV positive in 2009 and quickly became an advocate for her community. While working as a peer advocate for the Health Department she was asked to tell her story at a training session. After telling the group about how she was living on her aunt’s floor with her 3 and 1-year-old daughters, a Hope House Social Worker approached her. The social worker said, “That’s no way for you to live. We have help.”

Tonya recounts her time before Hope House; “I was just trying to live for my babies. Sleeping on the floor. I literally had no hope. It was hard to take my medicine and stay positive. I felt like God had forgotten about me. But I came here and it was like a ray of sunshine.” Tonya went from not eating so she could feed her babies to having a home of her own and plenty of food for her family. She says, “We didn’t have any furniture but I had a roof over our heads, lights, a place to call my own. I never had a place to call my own. I felt like I could breathe.”

When describing her experience at Hope House Tonya says, “When I came here I always felt uplifted. I never felt like the odd man out. When I got diagnosed no one would genuinely hug me. I came here and they would let me cry on their shoulders.” Today Tonya is in school at University of Memphis, getting a degree in Computer Engineering with a minor in Social Work. Her girls are both straight A students with perfect attendance and conduct, something for which she is very proud. And she should be. Tonya has shown her girls strength and resilience in the face of immense challenges, while striving each day to be a great mom.
The Employees of BCD Travel

Hope House has some truly generous supporters. Whether they are contributing time, money or supplies for our teachers or clients, our supporters do whatever they can to help our children and families. It’s the sheer passion for those we serve that drives them and we could not be more grateful for the love they show our children and adults.

This past year, the employees of BCD Travel have really outdone themselves when it comes to meeting the needs of Hope House. It all began when Claire Ryan got involved over ten years. She started the Dollars for Denim program where BCD Travel employees could donate dollars to Hope House in order to wear jeans to work. Over the years BCD Travel has supported Hope House in a number of ways and this year was exceptional. In the fall of 2015 they ensured that each of our toddlers and preschoolers had the Halloween costume they wished for so they could trick or treat in style on a class field trip. Then in the winter of this year one of their employees donated 28,062 diapers for Hope House to provide our children and families. In the spring the group pulled their money together to purchase tricycles for our preschool playground so that each child would have a bike to ride during play time. The also helped sponsor our annual event, Hoedown For Hope, which raises much-needed funds for our children’s services. Finally, they ended the year with a generous gift from their company’s foundation of $45,000 which provides funding for one of our classrooms for an entire year!

“I feel so passionate about and personally committed to the mission of Hope House. It is incredibly rewarding to have the support, encouragement, and participation of my BCD Travel co-workers and the leadership team who donate their time, efforts, and money to helping the children and families. They motivate me to do more. ‘Because no child should be without Hope.’”
